

DREADFULLY DISTORTED

Bodies of Unfortunate Miners
In Bad Shape.

DEATH AGONY IS AWFUL.

Many of Men Who Owe Their Lives to the Fact That at the Time They Were Attending Church Celebrate
Their Escape by Carousing.

Jacob's Creek, Pa., Dec. 20.—Of the 200 or more miners made prisoners in the Darr mine of the Pittsburgh Coal company by the terrific explosion the bodies of thirty Friday morning lay in the main entry, where they were tenderly laid by rescuers until they could be brought to the surface. Some of the bodies are dismembered and mangled and all distorted by the agonies of violent death and disfigured by concussion and smoke, dust, explosion. Faint though it is the hope cherished by rescuers and grieving friends and relatives that some of the men have survived the explosion and awaiting release far back in the mine. For this reason rescuers did not take time to bring out the bodies as they were found, but continually pressed forward, their only aim being to just as quickly as possible open the passage to and explore every section of the mine.

Foreign miners who escaped the disaster made night hideous in the little village. They had suspended work because of a religious holiday and most of them followed their holiday customs or drinking to excess. Many were intoxicated before the catastrophe, and after they put themselves in a worse condition—some drinking in celebration of their escape and others to drown their grief over the death of relatives or friends. All night there was carousing and disorder, at times bordering closely upon rioting.

The Pittsburgh Coal company arranged to provide Christian burial for all victims and bear all expenses connected with the funerals. It is believed a majority of the victims are Americans.

Rescuers report the interior of the mine badly damaged. As they advance they are compelled to rebuild much bracing that was blown out and a great deal of bratticing is necessary to make it possible for ventilation in remote sections.

There is shortage of many supplies needed for such conditions and the work of rescue will of necessity progress slowly. The distance from the mouth of the mine to the most remote sections is said to be about three miles, and it is thought many bodies will be found near the end of the workings.

Nothing definite is known as to the number of men in the mine. W. R. Woodford, vice president of the company, said early Friday he did not believe there were over 175 men entombed. He said he and his fellow officers felt there was scarcely the possibility of any men still being alive, but on the remote chance that some may survive, the greatest possible volume of air is being forced into the mine and an opening made as fast as possible. Mr. Woodford believes the explosion was due to gas.

State constabulary have arrived and placed on duty to keep back the crowds and preserve order.

John Mitchell Seriously Sick.

Indianapolis, Dec. 20.—While attending at the Claypool hotel a joint conference of miners and coal operators John Mitchell was taken suddenly ill. A priest and physician were sent for. The latter says Mr. Mitchell's condition is serious, though not critical.

Body of Lady Is Shot In Most Awful Manner.

ASSASSIN STOOD CLOSE BY

Mrs. Mary Nelson, a Highly Respected Woman, Literally Riddled by Some Scoundrel; but the Motive Has Not Come to Light.

Hammond, La., Dec. 20.—Horribly mutilated, the left side of her face entirely gone and her body riddled with shot, Mrs. Mary Nelson, forty-five years of age, one of the most respected women in the parish, was found lying in what is known as Happy Woods road, about two miles west of here.

The murder was committed with a shotgun loaded with a mixture of bird and buckshot, evidently held by some one standing about ten feet from her. Mrs. Nelson was not assaulted, nor were there any evidences of robbery, but suspicion has fallen on a negro with whom she had had a quarrel over a dog. So far there is no trace of the negro, but Sheriff Hall is on the trail of the negro with bloodhounds and capture is expected at any time. Excited possses, made up of the woman's neighbors, have joined in the chase.

GALVESTON AT HEAD.

Thursday She Received More Cotton
Than Any Other Seaport.

Galveston, Dec. 20.—For the first time this season the port of Galveston heads the list in cotton receipts. Receipts of 13,011 bales Thursday, as against 9,307 bales for Savannah, gives Galveston the lead by 7,876 bales.

At the close of Thursday's markets Galveston's total receipts for the season thus far aggregated 1,150,651 bales; Savannah, 1,142,776 bales, and New Orleans, 866,834 bales. Total receipts at all ports thus far this season are under total receipts for the same period last season are under total receipts for the same period last season by 1,061,790 bales. The decrease at Galveston, comparing with the same period last season, amounts to 931,662 bales.

The movement of cotton is increasing at Galveston and falling off at the Atlantic ports, and it is not thought probable that Galveston will again take the second position this season. Because of average crops along the Atlantic and a strike at New Orleans, the port of Savannah always a close third, held first place in point of receipts this season until the present time.

UNUSUAL OFFENSE.

Man and Daughter Arrested as
"Common Scolds."

Jersey City, Dec. 20.—John Pfeiffer and his daughter, Margaret, were arrested here under indictments charging them with the somewhat unusual offense of being "common scolds."

He is fifty-five years old and his daughter thirty. A score or more of their neighbors testified before the grand jury and the indictments were found under an ancient law of this commonwealth. Pfeiffer is a widower and he and his daughter are accused of disturbing the neighborhood by their continued caustic remarks regarding their neighbors or any one who happens to pass their house. The statute under which they are indicted provides for a penalty of not more than three years' imprisonment or a fine of not more than $1,000 for any person convicted of being a "common scold," common scolding and disturbing the peace of the neighborhood and of all good and quiet people, to the common nuisance of the people there inhabiting, residing or passing.

Rush About Over.

New York, Dec. 20.—Steamship agents say the great rush of steerage passengers bound for Europe is practically over. The French liner La Lorraine carried out 304 third-class passengers and the White Star liner Arabic 600—in each case the capacity of the ship.

Hester Badly Bruised.

New Orleans, Dec. 20.—Henry C. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans cotton exchange, was run down and badly bruised by an automobile. His injuries are not believed to be serious. He is nearly seventy years old.

GLAD CHRISTMAS TIME.

How Vacation was Ushered in at Villa Maria Academy.

The students' leave-taking for holiday vacation was marked at Villa Maria Academy yesterday by some bright little exercises, witnessed by a number of parents of students, patrons, patronesses and co-workers of the Villa Maria community.

The exercises were of a character befitting the glad holiday season, introducing, with some classical accompaniments, the Santa Claus legend—old, yet ever new and beautiful. A brief little hint of a play was enacted in dialogue and song. There was a Christmas tree, and seasonable decorations of holly and mistletoe, and pendant carmine bells, the latter reminding the guests of the invitations, written on bell shaped cards, asking the recipients to "meet Santa Claus at Bell hall, in Wonderland." "Alice in Wonderland" had for her guests (in the play) such romantic characters as Hiawatha, Minnehaha, Jennie Wren, and others, all appropriately costumed. A live goose, which was also in the play, greatly surprised and amused auditors and performers alike by introducing a song not down on the program. This was presumed to be the poor bird's best effort at "The Swan Song."

The entire program was a fanciful and charming setting for the distribution of some beautiful presents from tutors to pupils, and from pupils to each other. Father Gleissner supplemented the Santa Claus gifts with a number of beautiful souvenir cards, to further gladden the hearts of the happy students.

Alice in Wonderland, Vida Singleton Santa Claus, Bertha Singleton Hiawatha, Mary Harris Minnehaha, Mary Ross Parker Jennie Wren, Ruby Connelly Snow Maid, Francis Chance Ice Maid, Helen Crenan Cricket, Sallie Price Tiny Tim, Francis Rogers. The foregoing were the characters afforded by the sketch, and the names of the little maidens who enacted well the respective parts.

Miss Rogers played "Xmas Greetings," Miss Kelly executed a march in Act I, and Miss Reed a valse in Act II.

School closed yesterday, and many of Villa Maria's students whose homes are away from Bryan go by to-day's train to visit at home. They go with happy hearts to spend the while until January 2 that is allowed them by the vacation period.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE CLOSED.

Was a Week of Highly Profitable
Work—Pleased with Entertainment—Resolutions Adopted.

The Brazos County Teacher's Institute adjourned yesterday, after a highly profitable and well attended session.
The practical organized effort put forth has accomplished much toward bringing the teachers closer together
in their work, and indicates to them
the manner in which concentrated and well directed effort may be of immediate and lasting benefit for the betterment of the schools. Each will return to the school room refreshed
and equipped with new ideas and renewed energy. The teachers were much pleased with their entertainment in this city and adopted the following resolutions before adjournment yesterday.

Your committee on resolutions resolved to submit the following:

Resolved, first, that we heartily endorse the wise administration of State Superintendent R. B. Cousins.
Especially do we endorse the efforts which he has made towards improving rural schools by establishing a uniform course of study.

Resolved, second, That County Superintendent T. W. Parker, by his untiring efforts, has brought about a decided improvement in the schools of the plan for grading the schools which he has recommended.

Resolved, third, that this institute heartily thank Prof. W. C. Welborn of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, President O. C. Charlton, of our appreciation to the several ministers for their inspiring talks from day

The Fort Worth Star offers its contemporaries the following good sized nugget of pure wisdom: "No country paper can be an advocate of any man for office without injuring its influence and lessening its bank account. The country press is a power for good in politics, and should stand for such measures as may be best for the greatest number, without bias or prejudice for or against any man. By this course the country editor gains
the friendship of its readers and will be able to do much good in the way of moulding public opinion for the good of its own people and for the state."

Only Changing the Tune.

"The man escaped us," said the detective. "He had invented a new dodge.
That, you see, is the trouble about the science of detection. The minute we detectives master all the old tricks
something new springs up.

"It is rather like the story of the thirsty butler. When you keep a cask of beer under lock and key in the cellar, only giving the butler the key when you want him to draw you a pitcher, then, if you make him whistle
all the time he is out of sight on this errand, you are bound not to be defrauded, eh? Or so at least it was in the past.

"Well, there was a man who engaged a new butler, and, as of yore, the first day he wanted beer he said:

"James, here are the keys to the beer closet. Take this pitcher down and fill it. And mind you whistle all the while you do it."

"Yes, sir," said James, and he departed whistling.

"The clear, sweet notes of 'Home,
Sweet Home,' floated upstairs for a minute or so, then they ceased. The master rushed to the cellar door.

"James," he shouted angrily, "what are you doing?"

"Nothin', sir; only changin' the tune."—Washington Star.

Letter Writing in Ancient Babylon.

It can easily be understood that the reading and writing of cuneiform was not an accomplishment in the possession of every one. Nevertheless there were plenty of scribes everywhere, especially in the cities, where they sat
at the temple gates to be at the service of the public. The frequent representations of scribes are hence interesting and show that in addition to clay tablets the Babylonians used some sort of flexible material to write upon. The large number of letters which have been excavated, many of them from the ninth century before Christ, indicate that a very active correspondence was carried on in Babylonia by means of messengers, but even more active was the use of writing in commercial dealings, which was strictly enforced by law. Nothing was legally binding unless it was done into writing in the presence of witnesses.—Professor Friedrich Delitzsch in Harper's Magazine.

BRYAN TEXAS DEC. 21, 1907.

Amid all of its woe Russia has a good hop crop.

There are more illogical than logical
candidates.

Credit is like fire—good to have but dangerous to play with.

Comptroller Stephens wants the indignity clause in the Confederate pension law killed.

That old, decrepit, way-worn republican elephant will make his farewell tour next season.

It is less difficult to select suitable Christmas presents than it is to find the money to pay for them.

Since Roosevelt quit the game Governor Hughes is playing hide and seek with the nomination.

Bryan Christmastrees will fruit as abundantly this year as usual, notwithstanding the hard times.

Commissioner Love says Texas securities hold the highest rating in the New York market.

In a few days the people of Bryan
will have an opportunity to shake hands with the next president of the United States.

Still another heart-sickening mine catastrophe, this time in Pennsylvania, and the number of victims is estimated at four hundred.

A statistician says it costs $25,000 to raise a boy in New York. It can be done cheaper than that in Texas,
and the product is worth more.

The city council of Houston has decided to order an election for a million dollar's worth of public improvement bonds. That's going some.

The old Scripture smiles of infinite number, "the stars of heaven," and
"the sands of the seashore," have given place to "the dollars of Rockefeller."

There is trouble in the president's official family. Secretary Cortelyou blames Private Secretary Loeb with that resignation rumor, which he promptly denounced as "another lie."

Hopkins and Van Zandt counties are each disputing the right of the other to a gold medal for the best ribbon cane syrup. Brazos could easily win over both of them and all other competitors if the effort were made.

When Roosevelt retires from the White House he can do the most spectacular and sensational stunt of his life by joining Capt. Roald Amundsen in an expedition to the North Pole
in a sledge drawn by white bears.

There was no enthusiasm to speak of when Secretary Taft returned from his tour around the world. It was not comparable to that which greeted Bryan last year and is waiting for Santa Claus next week.

Children in sunny southern Texas believe in Santa Claus but not in the reindeer and Lapland sledge. The wise old man leaves them at the southern limit at the fall of snow, and betakes himself to an airship.

When the time comes for a final decision as to the policy and leadership of the democratic party, the reactionaries will be so few that they will be ashamed to stand up and be counted.

Bryan will draw a bigger crowd
than Santa Claus next Tuesday night, but Santa comes every year and Bryan don't. Even Mr. Bryan himself will not dispute that good old Santa is far and away the more popular.

We have hardly gotten over the pleasurable surprise of the turbine engine when the announcement comes from England that the radial, just invented, is swifter, smaller, and more economical. If all that is claimed for it be true the astonishing records of the Lusitania, and Mauretania will be broken.

A house-to-house canvass made by charitable people shows many cases of destitution in Temple. In one miserable shelter a widow and two children were found without food or fuel.
The Christmas poor fund subscription is large enough to afford all necessary relief.

A few newspapers in Texas would find their environment more in harmony with the opinions they express and their associations more congenial if they would remove their offices of publications to the vicinity of Wall street, New York, N. Y.

None of the financial nostrums prescribed nor all of them combined,
would cure the money stringency.
Like some of the diseases which infect the human body, it must run its course. The crisis passed several weeks ago, and convalescence has already begun, but it will take time to restore the strength of the patient.
The wise financier is not the one who is seeking a remedy for the present trouble but a preventive against future attacks. Government insurance of bank deposits seems to be the best preventive.

There is actually a newspaper in Texas that thinks favorably of conspirations as the best means of maintaining the strength of the army. That such a proposition should be seriously treated anywhere is a painful evidence that America is becoming Europe-anized.

DARING ATTEMPT.

W. A. Hewett Accused of Bold Effort to Rob a Car.

Philadelphia, Dec. 19.—Charged with making a daring attempt to rob a car on the Buffalo express containing gold bullion while the train was standing in the Reading terminal Wednesday night, W. A. Hewett, who gives his address as 325 West Fifteenth street, New York, is held in heavy bail for further hearing.

The train had been made up and was scheduled to leave at 8:40 o'clock via the Reading railway and Lehigh Valley. One of the express cars contained $60,000 in gold bullion, which was being shipped by the government to Buffalo. The alleged attempt was discovered by the yardmaster while at work on a track adjoining the one on which the express train stood. He heard a peculiar grating noise and investigating discovered Hewett under the bullion car at work with a saw on a gas pipe. The yardmaster gave alarm and Hewett was pursued through the station. He was caught before he could escape in a crowd of Christmas shoppers on the street and taken to the central police station. About the same time Hewett was discovered the lights in the car went out, and an examination of the gas pipe showed it had been punctured. The police say they are working on the theory that Hewett probably expected to enter the car after he had extinguished the lights and loot it unobserved.

CORTLEYOU CITED.

Must Show Cause Why He Should Not Be Enjoined.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Justice Gould of the District supreme court cited George B. Cortleyou, secretary of the treasury, to appear in court Jan. 3, 1908, to show cause why he should not be enjoined from turning over or delivering the balance of the $21,450,000 of the Panama canal bonds to certain banks and persons to whom he has announced allotments. The citation issued by Justice Gould is based on a petition filed by George W. Austin of New York, who describes himself as a taxpayer and property owner in the United States, and who declares he made a proposal to purchase bonds as advertised to the value of $3,000,000. He says he had agreed to pay at the rate of 103.375 and accrued interest per $100, and such notice of the acceptance of the secretary's having ignored these bids, "the United States and the citizens thereof, irrespective of the rights of said bidder, had been deprived of, and will be deprived of and defrauded of several hundreds of thousands of dollars."

ORDERED CLOSED.

This Action Is Taken Against Three Indiana Institutions.

Indianapolis, Dec. 19.—The auditor of the state ordered the bank of Fowler, Fowler, Ind., the Citizens' bank of Ambia and Goodland bank of Goodland to close their doors. The action was taken under a law passed by the last session of the Indiana legislature regulating private banks. The three banks are owned by Daniel P. Baldwin of Logansport, former attorney general of the state, and William H. Dague of Fowler as partner. The capital stock of each is $10,000. It is stated that the action of the auditor is due to investments of Baldwin and Dague in Arkansas timber lands in which loans from the bank were used. No statements of assets and liabilities have been given out.

Champagne From Sponges.

"The champagne makers of Reims buy a lot of our sponges," said a wholesale dealer. "They squeeze champagne out of them. They must squeeze in the year's course 1,000,000 bottles of champagne out of sponges. Mystified, aren't you? But there is no mystery about the matter. Champagne, as it ferments, is powerful stuff. It breaks the strongest bottles, and in the past all champagne that broke its bottles and escaped was lost. Now, though, they pack the champagne bottles in clean sponge, and every day or two they go over the plant, and if any of the bottles have broken they squeeze into casks the wine that the sponges have retained. This wine, reclarified, refined and bottled again, makes a very good second quality drink."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growth back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease.

In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, it uniformly cures all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those sand-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual excuse to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

A LESSON IN LATIN.

Criticism to Which the Duke of Wellington Objected.

Discussion of the best pronunciation of Latin recalls to the Liverpool Post a story about the Duke of Wellington. It was about the year 1844, and the chancellor in his gorgeous robes was reading the honor list aloud. The list was, of course, in Latin, and Wellington knew more about the handling of brigades than about Latin quantities. Whenever the name Carolus occurred the duke persisted in pronouncing the "o" long—"Caro-lus."

It was at last too much for one of the dons standing behind him, so, leaning over, he whispered, "If your grace will excuse me, I should like to point out that at Oxford we call that word 'Car-olus.'"

"Very good," said the duke. "Thank you. I'll remember." Presently came the name Jacobus, which, mindful of his lesson, he pronounced "Jac-obus."

Again the don leaned over. "I humbly beg your grace's pardon, but that name is 'Jaco-bus.'"

"Hang it all," muttered Wellington, "you can't chop and change like that! Caro-lus and Jaco-bus or Car-olus and Jac-obus, whichever you like. But stick to your own rules, if you please."

Her Stipulation.

When a rosy cheeked, good natured Irish girl fresh from the other side recently sought employment in the service of a Germantown woman, the latter began anxiously to interrogate the girl as to her qualifications.

"Can you cook, Nora?" asked the lady most earnestly. "Are you a good cook?"

"Yes, mum, I t'ink so," responded the girl naively, "If ye'll not try to help me!"—Harper's Weekly.

Mr. Barrie's Page.

J. M. Barrie, the popular novelist and playwright, glorified tobacco more than once, but on a certain occasion he tried to induce a smoker to desist. It happened thus:

Mr. Barrie returned to his rooms one day and discovered his page boy puffing hard at a dirty clay pipe.

"My boy," said the novelist, "it is very bad for you to smoke that coarse black twist. You will make yourself old before your time."

And so he went on till he had delivered a long and what he believed to be a telling lecture. A day or two later the youth left without giving notice, and shortly afterward Mr. Barrie brought some friends to his flat. Promising them a special treat, he went to a cabinet where he kept a store of very choice cigars. You can imagine his chagrin when he discovered that the cigars had vanished, and in their place was the page boy's clay pipe and the following note:

Dear Sir—I agree with you that it is bad for a boy to smoke twist. I will not smoke any more twist till I have finished your cigars.

Some Animals in Winter.

The ptarmigan, a member of the grouse family, is in summer mottled with black and a rich fluffy brown, but in winter it becomes pure white. The snowy owl and the snow buntings that come to us from the far north have whitish plumage that blends harmoniously with the prevailing whiteness of the landscape. But perhaps the most interesting example of all is the weasel, whose fur in the summer has a peculiarly soft shade of reddish brown, but in the winter is pure white except at the tip of the tail. It is probable that this black point is useful to its owner in diverting the attention of a carnivorous bird or of a beast of prey, as the black spot is more readily seen than the white body of the animal. It is said, too, that if the tip is covered with snow the whole weasel becomes clearly visible and that if the first snowfall is later than usual it is claimed by some naturalists that the color change is delayed accordingly. The turning white takes place when most needed.—St. Nicholas.

Coronets.

It is a mistake to suppose that dukes, marquises and other noble Britons sleep in their coronets. In fact, they never wear them at all except at the coronation of the sovereign, when they put on their coronets at the precise moment when the primate of England places the crown upon the anointed brow of the king or queen. And when a peer or peeress dies the coronet is again used at the funeral, being placed in the coffin or borne on a purple cushion behind the hearse by one of the attendants. That is the extent to which the coronet is used according to the official rules and regulations. But sometimes they are made to serve other purposes than those for which they were intended. They are made of silver gilt, edged with ermine and lined inside with a purple velvet cap topped with a gold tassel and are quite ornamental baubles. One belonging to a noble marquis which was sold at auction in London had been cut in half and arranged to serve as brackets for candlesticks.

Daffodil Poisoning.

A large number of plants which are usually looked upon as harmless possess poisonous properties, says the Dundee Advertiser. Those who are employed in picking daffodils and narcissus frequently suffer severely from a troublesome skin affection known as "daffodil poisoning." The most trying feature of this ailment is the small gatherings which form under the finger nails. It is said that minute crystals of lime exist in large numbers in the juice of the stems of the pretty blooms and that these are responsible for the poisoning. Regular daffodil pickers are accustomed to rub their hands with oil and work tallow in underneath their finger nails before beginning their work. The bulbs of the white Roman hyacinth have similar unpleasant properties.

With Thanks.

John Budd was a most sedate, precise and altogether exemplary young man. When he wooed and won Susan Smiley, the belle of the village, everybody rejoiced at John's good fortune. However, he bore his triumph with modesty and decorum until the day of the wedding. Then for one awful moment his air of aplomb failed him. When the officiating clergyman asked, "Will you, John, take this woman to be thy wedded wife?" John responded blushing, "Yes, please."—Harper's Weekly.

Something Good.

Johnnie on his first visit to his grandparents, who live in the country, communicated with his anxious family as follows:

Dear Ma—I am well and hope you are. Your loving son,

If you want something good, get a red cabbage and eat it raw.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidneys, like the heart, and the stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well. If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else. It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Restorative—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had. For stomach distress, bloating, biliousness, bad breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.

FIGHT IN HOUSE.

Williams and Dearmond Have Fistic Encounter.

Washington, Dec. 20.—The spirit of rivalry that for five years has alternately smoldered and blazed between John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, leader of the minority, and David A. DeArmond of Missouri, leader of the minority opposition, culminated in a fist fight on the floor of the house of representatives. The blows of Representative DeArmond caused blood to flow down the face of Representative Williams, and only the forcible intervention of friends cut the combat short. Mr. DeArmond bore away a cuffed nose.

The immediate cause of the fight was the passage of the lie by Mr. DeArmond to Mr. Williams, resulting in a complaint by the former that the minority leader had broken faith in "burying" Representative Bocker of Missouri by recommending his assignment by Speaker Cannon to the committee on coinage, weights and measures. According to the statement of the principals, Mr. Williams defended his action by declaring he had been told by Mr. Bocker's colleague, Representative Lloyd of Missouri, that the committee assignment would be satisfactory to Mr. Bocker. Mr. DeArmond bluntly questioned the truth of the statement, and after the failure of his effort on his part to transfer the scene of hostility, Mr. Williams struck Mr. DeArmond a blow in the face with closed fist.

The exciting incident will not be down in the Record, for the house had a few minutes before adjourned when the first blow was struck. But there was no lack of witnesses. The organization of the house had been completed by the announcement of the speaker's assignment of members to committees, the Republican committeemen having been selected by the speaker and the Democratic by Mr. Williams. Scores of newspaper men were scattered over the floor discussing the appointments. In the overlooking galleries loitered a score or more of women and four times that many men, viewing the aftermath of an interesting session. Mr. Williams, relaxed from the long strain of allotting preference among the 167 fellow-Democrats whose minority strength he officially leads, was seated at ease at the desk of Representative Wallace of Arkansas in the center aisle on the Democratic side. Mr. DeArmond approached, greeted him and took the adjoining seat. At once they engaged each other in earnest talk, but pitched their voices so low that afterward only one or two members, who were very close to them, could recall anything they had said. They had been thus in conversation for longer than a few minutes, when both sprang to their feet, shoving their chairs back and the gentleman from Mississippi struck the gentleman from Missouri a glancing blow on the nose. Some representative cried out: "Look! Look at the fight!"

Everybody looked, but so startled were they by what they saw that no one seemed for the moment to think of rushing forward and stopping it.

Meantime Mr. Williams and Mr. DeArmond, wedged between the two rows of desks, were still exchanging blows. Blood was flowing down the face of the leader of the minority, while Mr. DeArmond was endeavoring to grasp his opponent by the throat. At the same time receiving and vigorously returning blow for blow. They were finally separated.

LAID TO REST.

Remains of Late King Oscar Interred in Church.

Stockholm, Dec. 20.—The body of the late King Oscar of Sweden, who died Dec. 8, was interred at noon Thursday in Riddarholm church, the burial place of Swedish kings and heroes, with a ceremony simple in its impressiveness and, which was accentuated by widespread evidence of popular sorrow. Along the snow-covered route the funeral procession of thousands of people gathered and stood bareheaded in the biting cold during the passage of the hearse and mourners. Every bell in the city was tolled throughout the progress of the funeral. Black draperies and other emblems of mourning hung from the fronts of buildings facing the streets along which the funeral cortege passed. The archbishop of Stockholm officiated at the ceremony. At the conclusion of the service a salute of forty-two guns and volleys were fired by a detail of infantry.

TAFT IS BACK.

Secretary Returns From Trip Around the World.

New York, Dec. 20.—Secretary Taft arrived on the steamer President Grant after his journey around the world. He was accompanied by Mrs. Taft and their son, Charles. When seen on board the President Grant at quarantine Secretary Taft said he was not prepared to talk on any public questions. "I have been away from the United States 120 days and so do not feel competent to discuss matters that the American public are interested in at this time. My absence from home has prevented me from keeping abreast of current events. While the work in the war department, of course, has moved along in the usual way during my absence, there are many matters of large importance which require my personal attention; so I expect to have my nose close to the grindstone for some time to come."

While the President Grant was still lying off the quarantine station the tug General Joseph E. Johnson arrived to take off Secretary Taft.

DOUGLASS DIES.

Superintendent of Reformatory Quickly Expires.

Austin, Dec. 20.—The governor received a telegram announcing the sudden death of Captain E. G. Douglass, superintendent of the Gatesville reformatory. The cause of his death was not given. Deceased was former state senator from Grayson county.

In the district court in the case of the Santa Fe against the railroad commission to set aside the lumber rate north of Beaumont Judge Wilcox sustained the demurrer interposed by the attorney general to the effect that one lumber rate could not be assailed without attacking all lumber rates. The Santa Fe gave notice of appeal to the court of civil appeals.

Retiring General Manager Price of the International and Great Northern railway, accompanied by his successor, W. H. Clarke, and by other officials of the road, was here and called on the railroad commission. They are making a tour of the property and introducing the new official.

District Judge Calhoun issued an order modifying the injunction heretofore issued by him in anti-trust suits of state against several oil companies. The Security Oil company secured a modification so that it could extend its pipe line to Batson and do business with the Union Tank Line company. The order of the court is so modified as to enable the company to transact interstate business.

BUCKEYES AFTER BRUTE.

Grabs Lady, Stuffs Rags in Her Mouth and Leaves Her Unconscious.

Columbus, O., Dec. 20.—A mob of men including mounted policemen started after a negro who assaulted Mrs. W. B. C. Hershey, wife of the president of the Excelsior Seed company. The scoundrel grabbed the lady while she was in her cellar and stuffed rags in her mouth. She was found by neighbors unconscious.

Mrs. Hershey could not describe the man. She was alone in the house, her husband having left shortly before for his place of business. The negro evidently secreted himself in the house with the intention of robbery. Mrs. Hershey heard a noise in the basement and went down to investigate. As she stepped in she was seized by a negro and thrown violently to the floor. The brute stuffed rags in her mouth and then deliberately took off his shoes. He remained with the half-conscious woman for some time and left her more dead than alive. Sneaking from the basement the negro walked off some distance and deliberately put on his shoes and then disappeared.

Some neighbors, suspicious at his actions, found Mrs. Hershey in the cellar unconscious and bleeding from blows on her face and body. An alarm was at once given and a posse gathered and started in the direction some neighbors say the negro took. Indignation is widespread.

Sentence Commuted.

Topeka, Dec. 20.—Governor Hoch has commuted the five year sentence of J. K. Marcell, the Highland bank cashier, in prison for forgery under the intermediate sentence. For three years Marcell, it was charged, sent to city banks forged paper as collateral for cash loans, obtaining in all, it is alleged, about $200,000 on it. The bank was wrecked.

Try This For Catarrh.

Free tests are now being supplied by mail to all Catarrh sufferers. There is no expense—no obligation whatever. Dr. Shoop is combining Oil of Eucalyptus, Thymol, Menthol, Oil of Wintergreen, etc., and is incorporating these ingredients into a pure, snow-white cream-like imported Petrolatum. This Creation—Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy—gives immediate and lasting relief to catarrh of the nose and throat. That all may first test it free, these trial boxes are being mailed without charge, simply to encourage these tests and thus fully demonstrate, beyond doubt, the value of this combination. If Catarrh has extended down to the stomach or bowels, then Dr. Shoop's Restorative must also be used internally if a complete cure is to be expected. Otherwise the Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy will alone be entirely sufficient. Write Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. for sample and book. Sold by Druggists everywhere.
